

Sudan Public Policy Institute

Fair Policies for a Prosperous Future

Call for Articles: Vision and Ideas on Peace and Justice - 1 - 20 Jan, 2025

About the Institute:

The Sudan Public Policy Institute is an independent think tank established in 2022. As part of a broader national network, it is dedicated to driving positive change through research, dialogue, and evidence-based policies. Our goal is to contribute to a peaceful, democratic, and prosperous future for Sudan, where justice, transparency, and sustainable development flourish. For more details, visit: www.sudanpolicy.org.

Call Summary:

Sudan is undergoing a historic transitional period, grappling with unprecedented challenges following the April 15, 2023 war. In this context, the Institute is issuing an open call to thought leaders, researchers, activists, politicians, citizens, and other stakeholders to share objective and serious insights and perspectives on Sudan's current situation and future.

Objectives of the Call:

- Analyzing the causes of the crisis: Providing a deep understanding of the root causes that led to the April 15, 2023 war.
- Envisioning the future: Presenting innovative visions for building a fair, democratic, and stable state.

- Proposing practical solutions: Suggesting actionable solutions applicable to the current context and beyond.
- Defining conditions for dialogue: Outlining political and technical prerequisites for foundational dialogue in Sudan.
